On November 25th, 2002 three firefighters died in the line of duty while battling a blaze in the Farwest Truck and Auto Parts store in Coos Bay, Oregon.

Captain Randy Carpenter, a firefighter for the City of Coos Bay since 1989, and Firefighter Jeff Common were trapped under debris when the roof collapsed. Firefighter Robert "Chuck" Hanners, who was working with Randy and Jeff, was found near the front entrance to the building, but passed away at Bay Area Hospital.

The loss of these three courageous men is tragic and immeasurable to their families, friends, and the entire community.

To insure that their sacrifice is never forgotten and to commemorate what Randy, Jeff, and Chuck meant to this community, Mayor Joe Benetti has charged the Firefighters Memorial Committee to develop a suitable memorial. You are invited to participate in the formation of this memorial by purchasing a brick with your name and personalized inscription engraved on it, or by donating funds toward the building of the memorial site in the courtyard in front of the Coos Bay City Hall. The bricks will be installed on the pathways leading to and surrounding the memorial centerpiece statue.

Be a part of honoring those who gave all for the community. Purchase a brick or make a donation today!
